His Plurality Will Approximate That of President Despite Lottery Charges.

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES. PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (Wednesday) Nov. 9.—Pennsylvania lived up to tradition by remaining Republican in yesterday's Presidential election, but incomplete returns early this morning indicated that President Hoover's plurality might be considerably less than half of the 500,000 figures claimed by leaders in the last weeks of the campaign and that Philadelphia, for many years the stronghold of Vareism, stayed loyal by a mere
